everything in connection with the Memoupons transactions. He is hourly expecting a copy of Mr. Farrington's testimony, which, with the private corresparties, together with his explanation, will place him high above the reach of his assailants. This publication is not necessary to the vindication of Mayor Johnson, as we smphis who doubts his incorruptible honesty, or believes he was in any way Interested in the purchase of the Memphis exupons. But John Johnson desires that all the facts be given to the public, knowing, as he does, that instead of losing by their publication, they will add to his popularity, and greatly contribute towards making his election almost unannous. The people of Memphis are not ingrates. They are possessed of sound good sense, just moral feeling and will take care of a faithful public servant when be exhibits such patriotic devotion and firmness in support of the people's interest as has John Johnson. He has not wasted his time in idleness, nor his energies in the haunts. dissipation, but has fully and ntirely devoted himself to his official duties, and is now assalled with violence. because he stood in the path of the hungry place-hunters anxious for their prey.
